Teedra Bernard excels as a highly experienced Human Resource Executive, possessing more than twenty years of rich experience in leading people strategies, spearheading organizational change, M&A, and fostering cultural excellence within a variety of sectors such as financial services, information technology, and retail. Alternatively, her entrepreneurial energy shines through her dedication to nurturing growth and scaling operations in fluid environments, a testament to her personal venture into entrepreneurship and small business ownership with her husband.

Teedra is the Chief Talent and Diversity Officer of TransUnion, a global information and insights company with over 12,000 associates operating in more than 30 countries. Teedra was appointed by the CHRO and CEO to establish a new HR Center of Excellence, consolidating efforts to enhance associate careers, skills, and infuse inclusion and belonging into all HR practices. Her responsibilities span the full spectrum of global talent functions, including recruitment, employment branding, onboarding, training, leadership development, culture, and employee relations.

As the former VP and HR Business Partner for Global Technology at TransUnion, Teedra provided HR leadership across global technology, information security, and engineering functions, aligning people strategies during critical technology modernization transformation and delivering business results.

Teedra's distinguished career journey includes an eight-year tenure at Hewlett Packard Enterprise, serving as the HR, Mergers, Acquisitions &, Divestitures leader, successfully overseeing HR initiatives capturing deal value realization and risk mitigation while contributing to revenue generation and organizational effectiveness within a multi-billion-dollar division.

Beyond her professional endeavors, Teedra aligns her personal values with her professional endeavors to make meaning impact, her deep commitment lies in creating social and community impact, where she serves as a board member for nonprofit organizations and chairs an Audit & Risk Management Committee.

She frequently engages in speaking engagements at prestigious business events, conferences, and panels, where her storytelling and expertise resonate with audiences. Teedra is recognized for her work, she received the Top 15 Chief Diversity Officers award by Diversity Global Managing in 2023 and was in the Top 100 Diversity Officers at the National Diversity & Leadership Conference.
